Sustainable Jobs and Educational & Training Strategy: What Is it, Why Is It Important, and Where Do We Go From Here

Errol Mazursky
Executive Director
Environmental Leadership Program
Email: errol@elpnet.org
www.elpnet.org

Taking it to the Next Level:
Strategies for Adaptation Across the Sustainability Curriculum Conference
Wake Forest University
March 22-23, 2010
The Non-Profit Sector’s Role in Green Jobs

- Advocate for Policy
- Training Programs
- Incubators for Entrepreneurial Ideas
- Build Cross-Sectoral Partnership
Advocate for Policy

• Green policy leads to new industry expansion and development
  – Identify Community Goals
  – Advocate for the Expansion of Current Policies
  – Advocate for New Policies
Training Programs

• Isles, Inc. – Center for Energy and Environmental Training
  – Energy Audits and Retrofits
  – Alternative Energy Installation and Maintenance
  – Environmental Cleanup
  – Green Building Operation and Management
Incubator for Entrepreneurial Ideas

• Greenworker Cooperatives
  – www.greenworker.coop

• ReBuilders Source
  – www.rebuilderssource.coop
Building Cross-Sectoral Partnership

Academia

Non-Profit

Government

Business

www.elpnetorg